GOOD MAN IS LAID TO REST.

Funeral of Mr. Clarence Board in Presence of Hundreds of Friends.

SHORT SKETCH OF HIS LIFE.

The remains of Mr. Clarence Board, of this city, whose death in Louisville was mentioned in last week's News, were laid to rest at Irvington last Thursday afternoon in the presence of about four hundred people. It was the largest funeral ever held in Irvington and one of the largest in Breckenridge county. Friends of the deceased were in attendance from all sections of the county and Masons and Knights of Pythias from Cloverport, Newleyville, Hardinsburg and other points were present.

Mr. Board was operated on in Louisville Tuesday morning of last week at 9 o'clock for cancer of the liver and died at 11 o'clock that night. It was known to the attending physicians, after the operation was performed, that he would die and his wife and little son, James, who were at their home in this city and purposely kept in ignorance of Mr. Board's condition, were telegraphed to come to his side at once. They left on the 4:43 afternoon train and did not reach Louisville until 9 o'clock, the train being late. After the operation Mr. Board's suffering was extreme, but he refused to take a stimulant, as requested by the physicians and remained alive only by the exercise of the most remarkable will power. He wanted to see his wife and child and by will alone remained conscious and was able to bid them good-bye.

The body was brought to Irvington Thursday morning and taken directly to the Methodist church. The services at the church were conducted by Rev. W. A. Hynes and were most beautiful and appropriate. The interment was in the Irvington cemetery. The services over the grave were conducted by Mr. W. J. Piggott, for the Masons. The original plan to have the services at the residence of Dr. P. R. Henderson, 712 First street, Louisville, and the interment in Cave Hill was abandoned.

At the time of his death Mr. Board was assistant roadmaster of the Louisville, Henderson & St. Louis railroad. About twelve years ago he began working for the road at Irvington as an office boy and gradually worked his way up to the position of assistant roadmaster, which he has held for several years.

In June, 1873, Mr. Board was born at Hardinsburg. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Board, died when he was a boy and he then made his home with Mrs. T. B. Henderson, of Irvington. In January, 1900, he was married to Miss Nora Henderson, of Irvington. Until last year Mrs. Board and her child resided at Irvington, while Mr. Board was employed in roadmaster R. N. Hudson's office in this city. Since then they have resided with Mr. Board in this city.

Beedee a wife and child Mr. Board is survived by one sister, Mrs. Chas. Beard, of Hardinsburg.

Mr. Board's death came as a shock to his friends, who are numbered by the scores throughout the county and along the Henderson Route. He had been in very good health till within a few weeks of his death and was in his office the Saturday before his death. He spent several weeks at French Lick Springs, but it did not help him.

In the death of Mr. Board the community loses a good citizen, the fraternal lodges a valuable member and the railroad a trusted and valuable employee. Aside from this he was a great Sunday-school worker and a man who met every duty of home life in a most commendable way. His popularity among his fellow men was shown by the large number that paid the last tribute to his memory.

OUTLOOK FOR TOBACCO MEN.

Tobacco Trust Ruins Independent Buyers and May Injure Growers.

THE SITUATION IN THIS CITY.

The indications are that there will be no independent buyers in the local tobacco market this season. Jas. B. Pace & Co., as it is generally known, will not buy this year, as they haven't been able to dispose of last year's crop. John Phelon has not decided whether he will buy, but the probability is that he will not, as the Tobacco Trust is forcing all independent buyers to go out of business. However, Mr. Phelon says that he will be able soon to make his decision.

If Mr. Phelon is not in the market and no buyer uses his warehouse or J. B. Pace & Co.'s, the latter being for rent, the American Tobacco Company, which is in the trust, will have the market to itself. J. D. Brashear, of Louisville, the American Company's local representative, is now in the city making arrangements to buy this year at the company's receiving shed in the western part of town.

Independent buyers in this section of the country are being ruined by the Tobacco Trust, as they can not find a market for their goods, the trust doing its own buying at its own prices and not from small dealers but direct from the growers. In this manner the trust saves the profits formerly made by the small dealer and puts him out of business, and injures the growers by destroying competition and buying at its own prices, which will be lower than formerly.

In many localities in the State there will be no independent buyers this season and the growers will have to sell to the trust at its own prices, which will result in a great loss to the farmer, due to the excellent size and quality of the crop this year. In the general opinion, this will be the case in this city if there is no independent buyer this year.

Millions Damaged by Floods

A terrific storm swept over the Atlantic coast last week doing millions of dollars' worth of damage. At Paterson, N. J., the Passaic river was on a rampage, seven bridges were ruined and hundreds of people rescued from collapsed houses. Hundreds of people are homeless at Paterson and the property loss amounts to $2,000,000. During the storm only four vessels entered New York harbor and many others were wrecked on the Atlantic coast.

Machinery Has Been Shipped

The special machinery for making interlocking tiling at the Murray Roofing Tile Company's factory was shipped from Bucyrus, O., Thursday, but has not yet arrived. The late shipment of their machinery has delayed the starting up of the plant for weeks. The order was placed with the manufacturers several months ago but was not filled until lately, owing to the congestion of business done by the firm.

Guarantors are Alarmed.

The Owensboro guarantors to the State fair fund are becoming alarmed over the failure of the requested statement of the expenditures to arrive. They think that no news is bad news. The report was due to arrive here last Wednesday, but nothing further has been heard from President Dorsey since the letter in which he said "the men" had gone to work on the books.—Sunday's Owensboro Messenger.

How to Make Pine Woods.

Farmers in the White mountains have discovered, or learned, what farmers elsewhere are slow to ascertain. It is that if you lop off the lower limbs of balsams when they are young the limbs will not grow again. Thus the tree as lumber will be improved. It will be freer of knots.

Certain hotel owners, desiring pine lands near their hotels on account of healthfulness, asked a government forester how to get them. The reply was: "Cut off the hard woods, then turn the cattle in to pasture for three years. They will keep down the stumps of the hard woods, and the pines, which cattle avoid, will grow up, and their needles will keep down other growths."

DEATH COMES TO T. W. GEER.

Prominent Railroad Man Succumbs to Injuries Received in an Accident.

INTERMENT IN CITY CEMETERY

The remains of Mr. Thomas W. Geer, of Thomasville, Ga., who married Miss Lizzie Kay, of this city, were brought here yesterday morning on the 5:07 east bound train, for interment. The body was taken immediately to the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Smart, the latter being a sister of Mrs. Geer. It was accompanied by Mrs. Geer, Mr. Walter Smart, her nephew, and Mike Jungling and Senator Norman, of Thomasville, Ga., friends of the deceased.

Mr. Geer died at Thomasville Sunday as the result of severe injuries received in an accident three weeks previous. While crossing a trestle on a motor car the car was wrecked by striking an obstruction placed between two rails, to wreck a passenger train it is supposed, and hurled to the ground below. In the fall Mr. Geer sustained a broken leg and was hurt in two places about the shoulder.

Many friends in this city are shocked to learn of Mr. Geer's death. He and Mrs. Geer have been visiting Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Smart twice every year and were here a few weeks before he was injured.

Mr. Geer was prominent in railroad and fraternal circles. At the time of his death he was superintendent of the Tifton, Thomasville and Gulf Railroad, of Georgia, and was traveling over this road when he received the injuries that led to his death. He was a Mason, Elk and Woodman of the World. Death came at the age of forty, at a time when he was becoming a successful business man and winning many friends.

The funeral will be held from the residence of Mr. Wm. Smart today and the interment will be in the city cemetery. Rev. P. L. King, of the Methodist church, will conduct the services. The funeral was to be held yesterday afternoon, but Mr. Geer's father and mother, who reside at Pineville, Ky., did not arrive until last night, their train failing to make connection with the Henderson Route. Mr. Jas. Kay, of Evansville, a brother of Mrs. T. W. Geer, arrived in the city yesterday morning to attend the funeral.

Boss Tomato Grower.

Mrs. Seargent, of Fordsville, is the boss tomato grower in this section. She had several tomatoes in her garden this year that weighed two pounds and two and one-half pounds.

KINKEAD HAS BIG AUDIENCE.

Beckham's Pardons and Powers' Trials Themes of Speech at Hardinsburg.

DEMOCRATIC RALLY IN MEADE

Hardinsburg, Ky., Oct. 13.—(Special)—The Hon. R. C. Kinkead, one of the most prominent lawyers of Louisville, spoke to a crowded house at the City Hall, Monday afternoon, in the interest of Col. Belknap and the state ticket. The circuit court room was too small for the crowd so the speaking was adjourned to the hall, which has about twice the capacity that the court house has.

He was introduced by Mr. Jesse R. Eskridge. About one half of Mr. Kinkead's speech was devoted to the trial of Caleb Powers, in which he was one of the leading attorneys for the defense. He told of the production of the evidence, of the selection of the juries and the general partisan conduct of the trials. The crowd was deeply interested in this part of his speech, coming as it did from one who knew the facts personally.

His attack on Beckham's pardon record was strong and convincing. He showed up completely the pardon of the notorious gambler, Alvey, and that of the murderer, Raleigh. He closed his speech with a glowing eulogy of Col. Belknap, whom he had known from boyhood, and a strong appeal to the voters to elect him as Governor of this Commonwealth.

Mr. Kinkead is a calm, dispassionate speaker, free from abuse, and he presents his facts clearly and convincingly. His speech was well received and was favorably commented upon by all who heard it.

Beckham at Brandenburg.

Brandenburg, Ky., Oct. 13.—(Special)—About 2,000 people heard Gov. J. C. W. Beckham speak here yesterday. The Corydon brass band and a large delegation on horseback met him at Weldon and escorted him to this place. Gov. Beckham rode in a survey with D. M. Duncan.

Gov. Beckham's speech was along about the same line of those he has made at other points. He was introduced to the voters by T. H. Hamilton, in a very happy manner. W. D. Ashcraft was director of the music and W. B. Arnold, E. R. Bondurant and others masters of ceremonies.

Two More Dry Towns.

Vine Grove, in Hardin county, voted dry recently and Judge Hagan, of Meade county, has refused to grant license to sell whiskey at Ekron, which makes it a dry town.

LONG ILLNESS COMES TO END.

Mrs William Winebrinner Passes Away at Her Home in Hardinsburg

REPORTS OF OTHER DEATHS

Hardinsburg, Ky., Oct. 13.—(Special)—Mrs. William Winebrinner departed this life at her home in this place on last Sunday morning after a long and painful illness. She bore her sufferings patiently and with Christian fortitude.

The funeral services were conducted at St. Romauld's church and the interment was in the Catholic cemetery.

The Rev. Father Wm. L. Gabe officiated at the burial which was attended by a large number of friends and relatives.

Mrs. Winebrinner leaves a husband, one child, her mother and several brothers and sisters to mourn her loss. She led a consistent Christian life and was a devoted member of her church. She will be much missed in the community. She was born March 21, 1856 and was married June 17, 1895, to Wm. H. Winebrinner, at Hardinsburg. One child, Jesse, was the result of this union, who survives his mother.

Mr. Tom Bandy Passes Away.

Irvington, Ky., Oct. 13.—(Special)—Mr. Tom Bandy, a very highly respected citizen, died at his home Monday morning after a lingering illness. A wife and five children survive him. Interment at Bethel today.

Anselm Clarkson Dead.

News has been received here of the death of Anselm Clarkson, one of the most prominent citizens of Big Spring. No particulars have been heard.

Circuit Court in Session.

Hardinsburg, Ky., Oct. 13.—(Special)—Circuit court convened here Monday at 10 o'clock a. m., with Judge Chelf presiding. The Grand Jury was composed of the following well-known gentlemen: W. H. Hawkins, Allen Newby, Arthur Manning, Marion Hardesty, Milt Davis, H. C. Jolly, L. Black, Eugene Beavin, W. H. Dutschke, R. T. Mattingly, C. L. Fisher and Zack Ganaway. Mr. W. H. Hawkins was appointed foreman. The charge to the Grand Jury was delivered by the Commonwealth's attorney, J. F. Layman. The court then adjourned until Tuesday morning.

OSTEOPATHY.

The Better Way To Health.

Osteopathy is a new science and system of treating and curing disease without the use of drugs. It is based upon a thorough knowledge of anatomy and physiology, and is a system of scientific manipulation of the structures of the body in such a manner as to remove all obstruction to the blood and nerve supply and allows nature to carry on the bodily functions unhindered.

In introducing Osteopathy to the people of this city, I realize it is not so much what the doctor says as what he does. I do not wish to deceive anyone, or hold out false inducements, since it would only do me harm to accept your money and give you no benefit. As a graduate of the American School of Osteopathy, under Dr. A. T. Still, founder of the science, I will be glad to explain Osteopathy to all who may be interested. Examination and consultation free.

Osteopathic literature free on application. Hours: 10 a. m. to 5 p. m., Wednesdays and Saturdays. Other hours by appointment.

Big Review of Troops.

Five thousand people saw the division parade Friday afternoon on the Howard flats, one mile northwest of the station, where 10,000 soldiers of the Department of the Lakes, of the militia and regular army men passed in review before the eyes of their commander, Gen. J. C. Bates. The scene was impressive and inspiring throughout the two hours and thirty minutes in which the defenders of a country passed under keen inspection, and those who saw the bright array of pageantry will carry the scene in memory to their dying day.

To Celebrate Anniversary.

Irvington, Ky., Oct. 13.—(Special)—The Irvington and Garfield lodge of Ancient Order of United Workmen will celebrate the thirty-fifth anniversary of that order here Oct. 27. They are making arrangements to have a grand time. One of the finest speakers in the State will be present and with music by string band and all kinds of refreshments. Everybody is cordially invited to come and have a real good time.

Had a Hemorrhage.

Adj. Gen. D. R. Murray was the victim of a hemorrhage early last Saturday morning and lay on a cot in the express warehouse at Howard for several hours. He was exceedingly weak from loss of blood and, in the confusion caused by the entraining of the troops, he did not catch a train until the middle of the afternoon.

Cloverport Negro Shot.

David Moorman, colored, of this city, was shot twice through the lungs and once in the arm at Anderson, Ind., last Wednesday by Police Sergt. Fennell, on suspicion of having committed robbery. Moorman was resisting arrest and shot once at the officer but missed. Sergt. Fennell shot Moorman once but he continued to fight and Fennell fired two more bullets into him. After the third wound he ran two blocks and then fell.

Surgeons think that Moorman will recover. His relatives here have been notified of his condition. He is thirty-two years old.
